If a person was raped, and hurt physically and emotionally why will anyone want that person to suffer the trauma for the rest of their life? I will leave it up to the moms to decide, not the rapist

Imagine your mechanic working on your car, then they will go to jail, or arrested, or no longer be able to work for replacing a part on your car. Is this fair? Its not Godly to abort a baby, its not morally correct, its not ethically, but the government should stay out of dictating on how people should live their lives. Instead the government should compensate people for having kids, the pregnant moms should have 8 months of paid leave from work.
